

8 PRO TIPS TO MASTER apple reminders

Tip #1: Repeating Reminders

Common Mistake: Using the calendar for recurring tasks.

Solution: Utilize the repeating reminders feature in Apple Reminders.

How-To: Create a new reminder, tap the 'i' icon, set a date, and enable the repeating options.

Common Mistake: Inefficient use of hashtags.

Solution: Use clear and concise hashtags to quickly find tasks.

How-To: Tap the hashtag symbol above the keyboard when adding a reminder.

Tip #6: Hashtags

Common Mistake: Manually updating lists.

Solution: Create smart lists for automatic organization.

How-To: Use tags and filters like date, location, and priority to create smart lists.

Tip #2: Subtasks

Common Mistake: Hard-to-navigate, long lists.

Solution: Use columns to categorize lists.

How-To: Tap the three dots in a list, then select 'View as Columns'.

Tip #7: Smart Lists

Common Mistake: Manually recreating lists every time.

Solution: Save and reuse lists by using templates.

How-To: Save a list as a template and reuse it for future tasks.

Tip #8: Templates

Benefit: Quickly add items to lists using Siri.

How-To:

- Add items to default list: "Hey Siri, remind me to [task]."
- Add items to specific lists: "Hey Siri, add [item] to my [list name] list."
- Use "Remind me about this" in Notes, Messages, Email, or Safari to add current screen content to reminders.

Tip #4: Organizing Your Lists

Common Mistake: Not sharing lists for collaboration.

Solution: Share lists with family or colleagues.

How-To: Tap the share button or person icon to share a list.

BONUS! Using Siri

Tip #5: Sharing and Collaborating

Common Mistake: Long, unorganized task lists.

Solution: Group related tasks together using subtasks.

How-To: On iPhone/iPad, tap and hold a task, then drag and drop it onto the main task. On Mac, right-click and select 'Indent Reminder'.

Tip #3: Columns

